Natural Gas YET

The possibility of a natural gas line from Louisiana through the Glades and Okeechobee, and on to the coast was seen this week by Editor Admette McClellan of The Town Gas & Oil Corp.

She reported that the Houston Town Gas & Oil Corp. has agreed to reconsider its proposed route for a pipeline from Sebring to West Palm Beach with a view to including other towns along the way.

More Feasible

Mrs. McClellan said to the gas company that she thought a more feasible route for the proposed west way than the originally projected west way via Moore Haven would be to bring the line north through Okeechobee, Canal Point, Pa-hokee, and Belle Glade, also bringing it nearer to Vero Beach, Fl. Piercy and Stuart.

Barnard and Dark, consulting engineers, of Baton Rouge, already have written to members of Congress at Vero, Ft. Pierce and Stuart regarding potential markets for gas along the new route, Mrs. McClellan said.

The Okeechobee Chamber of Commerce is at work on the market survey, Mrs. McClellan said, and the matter at the moment is in the hands of the survey engineers.

SOC. SECURITY UFFVA TOPIC

The revised social security law and how it affects agricultural workers, and the wage and hour law were discussed by Dr. R. Moorfield of Orlando at Tuesday night's dinner meeting of Everglades branch, United Fresh Fruit & Vegetable Association.

President Frank C. Dooley introduced Moorfield, who is executive director of the Joffre David, general manager of the Florida Fruit & Vegetable Association. The meeting was held at Bell's Restaurant, Belle Glade.

Moorfield also discussed the progress of a new definition of the wage and hour law, due to recent court directives of the U.S. Judicial Circuit.

Veg. Inspection

A. E. McCabe reported on the progress of adjusting vegetable inspection fees on a more equitable basis. Last year the inspection fees were raised over the protest of local inspectors, and the growers thousands of dollars in additional expense.

McCabe had attended a committee meeting at Orlando as one of three-man committee appointed to confer with George Kopkind, executive director of the Federal-State Inspection Service, Herb Riley and Hugh Flint, inspectors, and committee members A. F. Arthur of Goulder, Dickson Pearson of Benton, and Andrew Duda, president of Duda's for the purpose of working out plans for adjustments. The matter now rests with Commissioner of Agriculture Nathan Mayo.

The commission proposed change in its monthly meetings from the second Tuesday of the month to the first or third Tuesdays. John A. Hyland introduced the members and guests.

FHP NOW USING SOME UNMARKED CARS

TALLAHASSEE — The Florida Highway Patrol has taken to the highways with unmarked automobiles in an effort to save more lives.

Director H. N. Kirkman said today that plain cars now are operating in four sections of the state in an effort to trim the fat in road traffic injury and death toll.

Inspector Reid Clinton said the teams of troopers are working in several unmarked automobiles, using regular civilian clothes, and will move from area to area until the entire state is covered.

In the initial drive in Miami, and the general area, hundreds of motorists were stopped and received warnings, and many were handed summonses. The special teams will work all the major highways in east and west coasts Florida and in the lower section of the state, and in Panhandle Florida on the north.

PAHOKEE RESTS; RAMS - EAGLES

The Pa-hokee Blue Devils had a breather this week in their fight with Clewiston for first place in the Suncoast League, while the Belle Glade Golden Rams were ready to receive third-ranked Fl. Piercy at Memorial Field.

After tonight, Belle Glade and Pa-hokee have only their traditional Thanksgiving Eve battle to go in conference fray.

Rams 20 - Piercy 7

Continuing their march toward the Suncoast crown for 1954, the Pa-hokee Blue Devils turned in a sweet performance against Vero Beach at Vero Fl. Piercy.

Rosenberg treated the coaching staff to a special surprise specialties when he took Vero's kick in the second half on the Devil's five-stripe. He went 95 yards, flipping off tackle en route.

Vero roused up in the third and tallied a TD and a point to lead at 12-7 standing at that stage.

George Mills passed to Chat Clark for the fourth quarter's first TD, and Rosenberg ran the point.

Then followed a series of specialties when he took Vero's kick in the second half on the Devil's five-stripe. He went 95 yards, flipping off tackle en route.

The Rams' Mosley wound up the fourth quarter and another TD cut Piercy's lead to 14-7 at the 20-20 tie.

The first time the Devils got the ball, they kept it right on moving, and Hal Rosenberg supplied a 43-yard flight for the TD for the first half's sole score.

Post-Dec. 6 For Ramp Decision In Belle Glade

BELLE GLADE — Shortly after Dec. 6, an official delegation of the recently organized Belle Glade Farmers and Harvesters Association can petition the city to turn over the operation of the loading ramp to it, according to Atty. Edward F. Allen.

Allen, last Monday, pointed out to some 28 persons present at City Hall meeting that a duly profit corporation with a duly constituted board and stockholders could request the city to turn over the operation of the ramp facility to it. It was thereupon decided to form the temporary board into a permanent board for the purpose of incorporation.

Early in the meeting, temporary Secretary-Treasurer J. H. Livingston pointed out the advantages to the town if two loading times, one at 7 a.m. and one at 9 a.m., were worked out.

FES To Cooperate

After consulting with Florida State Employment Service officials he said that he had been assured of their cooperation in any way for the benefit of all concerned. Livingston pointed out that a loading zone would assure an equitable labor supply and fair wage practices. He also pointed out that the members of the corporation could be sure that wage scales set for particular jobs would be adhered to.

Billy Rogers was elected to the temporary board of directors.

REDUCED RATE CONTEMPLATED

BELLE GLADE — A proposal to reduce water rates in the city limits met with favorable comment in regular commission meeting Wednesday evening but was tabled for further consideration.

City Manager Tom Carle presented figures indicating that a reduction in fees paid by consumers of water might safely be made without upsetting the water department's financial condition.

Chief Engineer N. B. Willis injected the thought that taxpayers might have less out-of-pocket expense if the water department monies were spent on fire lines and hydrants.

Commissioner Mayor Old Robin affirmed the need to adjust taxes downward in the interest of the public if such reduction were sound business.

Fascinating Indeed

We have been fascinated this week at various developments in and around the county commission office.

Not that we haven't been fascinated with that since the first time we ever drove over a county "maintained" Glades road.

But this week, the taxpayers were treated to the spectacle of their elected representative in the Glades protesting that he could not come in to commission conferences three days a week because he is "40 miles away" from the courthouse.

Another county commissioner, also due to face the voting public in two years, got something of a jolt when he viewed the county's Republican trend in the Nov. 2 election and had a set of campaign cards printed early.

Now we can't blame either commissioner for his actions, really.

We agree that the 40 miles from the Glades to West Palm Beach is an arduous trip over the constantly disintegrating hot fudge used as road surfacing in this area. And we agree that it's not a minute too soon for a county commissioner to get his 1956 campaign started.

The taxpayers are pretty tired of their trekked roads, and are agitating for new ones.

Quite possibly they are getting in the same mood about some of their elected county officials.

ED. NOTE: WHEN OBSERVER Reader Valerie Vondermueller, of New York City, wrote of plans to visit the world-famous Everglades, we asked her to record some of her impressions and drop them in whatever mailbox she found. What the mail brought this week follows.

BY VALERIE VONDERMUELLER

Risalpur, Pakistan

We have been to two very different parts of the world.

The first was in Risalpur where 15 officers' wives were invited at 10:30 in the morning. Eleven were English women whose husbands serve on a contract basis with the Indian Army. Of the four Pakistani women two had studied abroad (one had lived just five blocks from us in New York) and one was an older woman who was looking after her granddaughter while her husband, a lawyer, both doctors, were doing postgraduate work in the U. S.

We started with lemonade, then had tea and cake. It was a pleasant affair, but not too different from tea at home. The same talk, the same sort of changes of orders, of plans for vacation.

The second tea took place about 60 miles away at a mountaintop resthouse looking out toward the Himalayas. Earlier in the day we had gone for a walk past the residence of the governor of the province. Along the path a man caught up with us and accompanied us for a few miles. He was from near Risalpur but was at that time supervising a contract job on the governor's estate grounds. He asked us for tea at the "most beautiful" spot we would ever see.

There was a sharp snap in the air, so we sent him again at 4:30. We hiked for about half a mile, past some patches of snow and finally came out on a beautifully-kept lawn with a 180-degree view of snowcapped mountains.

A table was set on the grass and "tea" produced. Our host apologized, saying that his wife was not there but he would do his best by us. First we had roasting chicken, then boiled chicken, and finally fruit. By this time the sun had set and we were congealed. We were at 8300 feet and the temperature was in the low 40's.

Finally, we all suggested that we move indoors and we leapt at the idea. It was only a little warmer, but tea proper now appeared along with some excellent cake and some cheese. All this was produced by four men, at least one of whom was a convict. We left just in time to complete the trail to the city before dark, and as we said goodbye our host produced a package of fresh lavender for us, again saying that if his wife had been present he could have given us something better.

We were touched by his kindness and were further moved when a huge bouquet of dahlias arrived from him at the hotel next morning.

We noted that under similar circumstances American hospitality would be as spontaneous and generous.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

By Sen. George Smathers

WASHINGTON: As this is being written, we are returning to Washington from a return to session and dinner of the McCarthy censure issue.

It is to be hoped that the matter will be promptly attended to, and that there will not ensue a prolongation of a dispute which is not divisive and diversionary for so long.

It is doubtful if anything new can be added to the arguments or the evidence, and it is questionable whether any senator will be spurred to action until the election is over, the atmosphere is clear for a calm, sober, judicial verdict from this judicial body.

Of substantial concern of late has been the unfair treatment being accorded many of our elderly citizens whose old age assistance payments from the State Welfare Board have been decreased as a result, ironically, of our action in the congress to provide an additional five-dollar monthly benefit under the Old Age and Survivors Insurance Program.

During the closing days of the recent session of Congress when the Social Security Act was being re-written, a group of both political parties sought to forestall the prompt short-changing of those whose state welfare payments were reduced by the amount of the increase in federal payment. WE made a fight which on one day we carried far into the night of a sen-

BY SCHATZI

It was a long haul from the sofa top to the first book shelf and from there up to the next-to-top one, but finally I made it.

Then the bosses, seeking in their usual knack for peeking in on me when at the wrong time, showed up.

They were obviously mystified.

"How come is Schatzl on the shelf among books — there's no food there except for thoughts," he heard Boss No. 1 mutter to Book No. 2.

I went about my business, though, and pawed around in the encyclopedias until presto, I came to the Great-Gran volume. With a flick of the paw I shoved it out of place.

Then it fell down and so did I.

Nothing daunted, I shook myself with a great deal of savor and went back to the shelf, thumping with flea powder, and went back to investigating the book.

By this time the bosses had spotted the word I had laboriously underlined on an agriculture department release, "gossypium."

"Funny you don't know that word," said Boss No. 1. "Just use it once and it is yours — like A Preacher Is A Man Of The Gospypol." But Book No. 2 cut in, "I'm bald and no, no, correctly it is 'Gossypium' is a man of the old gospypol."

I laughed fit to kill.

For I had found the goss section of the book, and the nearest of my local "gospypol" was Gossypium — See Cotton.

It took a lot of fussing with the bosses but finally we Saw Cotton.

Under "Cotton Plants" the book said that cotton is produced by small trees and shrubs of the genus Gossypium, a member of the Mallow family.

Now not knowing these Maltese words, I began to figure, thinking, figuring, that sooner or later I'd be told Cousin Gossypol. Pectinocarpus gossypifolia, yes (a native of India), and Germerella gossypifolia yes (kills plants and rots in). No pink old Gossypol was in evidence.

Couldn't find it anywhere.

My agriculture release explained only that "Because of its relatively high gossypol content, cottonseed meal should not be used as the entire protein supplement in swine rations."

Gossypol is toxic to swine (also known as pigs), the article informed me, and there is a "low gossypol" cottonseed meal session.

That the Senate declined to adopt the amendment we proposed was extremely disappointing to us. I know that it may mean trapping to those who were adversely affected by the resulting action.

One encouraging result of the discriminations and hardships which are now occurring, and which we fully expect, is that a Florida legislative group is looking into the entire question. I expect to talk with Governor-Elect Leroy Collins and I have already offered my assistance if required by the men now studying the matter.

Long awaited Everglades Park development will get underway within a few weeks now with December 1st target date for completion of multi-million tourist accommodations along the southern coast.

The Park Service has called for bids by mid-November for concession contracts from the Flamingo settlement. Prompt letting of contracts will insure maximum use of the park by next winter season.

It is planned to have motels, restaurants, gift shops, etc., at Flamingo, camps in park areas, and overnight arrangements at Everglades City. Fishing and sightseeing equipment of all kinds will be available, with adequate guide service into the most scenic and interesting parts of the park.

It is to be hoped that the matter will be promptly attended to, and that there will not ensue a prolongation of a dispute which is not divisive and diversionary for so long.

It is doubtful if anything new can be added to the arguments or the evidence, and it is questionable whether any senator will be spurred to action until the election is over, the atmosphere is clear for a calm, sober, judicial verdict from this judicial body.

Of substantial concern of late has been the unfair treatment being accorded many of our elderly citizens whose old age assistance payments from the State Welfare Board have been decreased as a result, ironically, of our action in the congress to provide an additional five-dollar monthly benefit under the Old Age and Survivors Insurance Program.

During the closing days of the recent session of Congress when the Social Security Act was being re-written, a group of both political parties sought to forestall the prompt short-changing of those whose state welfare payments were reduced by the amount of the increase in federal payment. WE made a fight which on one day we carried far into the night of a sen-

But nobody's explained what is gossypol, not even my favorite dog-dog dictionary.

I consider it my civic duty, however, to pass on what I know, namely that the more I know, the less I know.

"Pigs is pigs" may have been right, but I bet he didn't know his protein supplements either.

Depressed residents of Aiken, S. C. were assured this week by British Prime Minister Attlee that more tests of the atomic and hydrogen bombs than we realize. He told his audience that peace for 100 years might be insured by our possession of the bomb.

Aiken residents, like so many of their fellow-Americans, see no farther than their doorsteps where the hydrogen bomb is fabricated.

They see only the destructive force, not the constructive potential inherent in this engine for peace or for war.

Louis Smith, Jr., president of Mills College, writes in November Harper's magazine, "Probing into sub-history, the historian finds relationships which have had tremendous effects on the world of today of which there is no written record. Before the invention of the spinning wheel about 1300 A.D., spinning the yarn was the most expensive process in producing ordinary, non-luxury textiles. The spinning wheel, which was generally perfumed, greatly reduced the price of cloth, the market for it expanded, and ordinary people began for the first time to use linen sheets, underclothes, and other items of clothing which were previously considered luxuries."

Anyone in the country is invited to participate in this unified effort to bring "Messiah" to the public. Nov. 16 is the dead-line for registration. Soloists and soloists will hold Nov. 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the Palm Beach high school band room.

Rehearsals are held on alternate Mondays and Tuesdays, the next to be next Tuesday at West Palm Beach First Methodist Church, 3171 P. O. Box 3171. Further details may be obtained from Lampi in Paehokee.

PICTURES OF THE WEEK

MORE THAN THREE LITTLE PIGS — Farmer Joseph Lengauer's 300-lb Bavarian pig gave birth to a record litter — 21 little pigs in Seeschaup, Germany. Two were not strong enough to survive and two perished under mother's weight. That leaves 17 little pigs, which is plenty.

RARE STAMP — President Eisenhower receives rare Polish postage stamp, issued by Free Polish Army in India 12 years ago, from Major Stanislaw Gierat, German-born Polish general, commander of First Polish Armored Division during World War II. At center is Major Stanislaw Gierat, national commander of Polish Armed Forces in Exile.

CHOW HOUNDS — These participants in Richmond Champion ship London Dog Show wait for late, late supper. The 8-month-old St. Bernard wears a bib for the occasion while the year-old Papillon (Butterfly) dog sports a smear only.

STICKING HIS NECK OUT? — Willie Renner, keeper at the Lincoln Park Zoo, has photographed an old saying that as far as he's concerned "a man's best friend is his lion."

JUST COULDN'T WAIT — Mindrell Winkelman, 33, drove into a new drive-in at Mt. Pleasant, Michigan, but construction hadn't been completed yet. Winkelman's foot slipped from brake and car shot over four-foot ditch and into basement of unfinished drive-in.

If the vibrations of the vocal cords are normal, that is without any swelling or enlargement, the voice will be clear, but if there is some interference, hoarseness results. Hoarseness is a symptom and not a disease in itself.

Many diseases may affect the vocal cords but some are more common than others. One of the most common condition causing hoarseness is usually the cold, which causes the vocal folds to swell.

If hoarseness persists for weeks after apparent recovery from a cold, or if it continues after the condition should not be ignored.

Hoarseness may be present in persons who strain their voices, especially those who sing. This develops after cheering in songs to the serious hoarseness which is associated with cancer and disease of the heart or brain.

Hoarseness is associated with more of the signs. These tumors are malignant and if they fall in the latter group, hoarseness is usually the first and only danger sign of advanced cancer. When hoarseness occurs, it can be accomplished in the advancing larynx but when in the advanced stages, radical surgery is most always necessary.
